About 'A Day for Grace'

Watching 'A Day For Grace' is a like getting struck by lightning. It is the heart-wrenching simple telling of author Doug Vincent's relationship with his suicidal father which pours out of him the night of his daughter Grace's uncertain birth with unforeseen complications. Sam Llanas (formerly of BoDeans) shares the stage with Doug. Sam's fourteen musical numbers, as performed, serve as the play's emotional touchstone. Most of the soulful songs are from Sam's 1998 solo album "A Good Day To Die."

'A Day for Grace' is a hauntingly heart-breaking, life-affirming true story. Conceived, written and performed by Doug Vincent, the piece was shaped and shepherded at Boulder StoryHealers, a nonprofit organization that uses storytelling to aid in the healing of those dealing with devastating trauma and other adversities. As Executive Director and one of the founders of Boulder StoryHealers, Doug developed 'A Day for Grace' through an intensive and progressive workshop process. The New York Box Office proceeds benefited the Boulder StoryHealers Organization, The Junior Seau Foundation and American Foundation for Suicide Prevention. Further development work was applied during the play's production at Stage Left Studio. 'A Day for Grace' has been performed around the country reaching out to all those who have struggled with issues in mental health.

Boulder StoryHealers mission is to humanize and improve mental health through the power of storytelling
